

Evolving Research on Music in Health, and Education

A panel discussion

September 25, 2015

2:00 to 5:00

UCSD Qualcomm Institute

Music and Health

*Concetta Tomaino, Director,
Inst. for Music and Neurologic Function*

Julene Johnson, UCSF, UC MERCI

Music and Education

Nina Kraus, Northwestern University

Assal Habibi, USC

John Iversen, UCSD, UC MERCI

Join us for an afternoon discussion with some of the most active minds in the field of applied music-brain research. This Academic Symposium features two panels of experts who will discuss current research and future directions for the study of the impact of music on health and learning. Presented in concert with the Mozart and the Mind festival.

RSVP Requested: merci.ucsd.edu

